

Asia Society acknowledges Cardinal Health as corporate partner

On June 25 and 27, the Asia Society ran an acknowledgement to their Corporate Members – including Cardinal Health – in The Wall Street Journal and The New York Times. To view a copy of the acknowledgement, open the attachment on the right-hand side.

In addition to partnering with this organization on a corporate level, Aida Sabo, Vice President of Diversity and Inclusion, sits on their Corporate Diversity Advisory Council.

Asia Society is the leading global organization working to strengthen relationships and promote understanding among the people, leaders, and institutions of Asia and the United States. The Asia Society seeks to enhance dialogue, encourage creative expression, and generate new ideas across the fields of policy, business, education, arts and culture. To learn more, visit their website.